In a busy train station there was a small coffee shop. A robot named Sam worked there. He made perfect coffee, but he couldn't smile. One day a woman came in, she looked sad. Her eyes were red, and she seemed to have cried. She sat at a corner table and ordered a cup of hot coffee. Sam made the coffee carefully as usual. But when he placed the coffee in front of her, Sam noticed that she was unhappy. Suddenly he had an idea. Sometimes people need more than a drink. They need kindness. Although Sam couldn't smile, he had a screen, so he drew a simple happy face on it. The woman looked up surprised. Thank you robot. That's so sweet she said. From that day on Sam started saying kind things like you have a nice hat or have a good day. He also showed a happy face or other simple drawings on his screen. Soon Sam became popular. And more people came to the shop to see him. A young boy even started studying robots because he likes Sam very much.

Hey Lucy, our school is holding a short video competition. Shall we have a try? Sure. What's the name of the competition? The name is happy moments. Do you have any ideas? Showing our school life. So who will make the video? You're good at it, right? Yeah, I know how to use a camera and a computer to make short videos. Perfect, who do you think can be the host in the video? What about Adam? He speaks clearly and seldom gets nervous in front of others. Good choice, by the way. What exactly can we film? We can show happy moments like those in PE classes, group study or volunteer work sounds cool. Oh, when shall we start? We have to finish it in two weeks. Let's start this Friday. We can do. Each day that's a perfect plan. I'm sure our video will be full of fun.
